I read the story of France's financial crisis in yesterday's Wall Street Journal.

Writing from Paris, Correspondent A. E. Jeffcoat gave me these facts:

1. While prices throughout the world are falling the French have an inflation which is close to the bursting point.

2. Wholesale prices in France have risen two and a half times as much as the rise in the United States since the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

3. The franc today is worth only one per cent of its value at the close of World War II.

4. Premier Antoine Pinay, battling to save the franc from becoming worthless, is trying to get French business men to quit marking up prices in expectation of further inflation — and mark them down in line with the declining world level.

5. The premier aims to force this action by increasing tax collections and by floating a new loan, designed to draw off some of the people's spending money which is bidding up prices so foolishly. But Pinay is faced with a curious situation, and this brings me to today's editorial.

The financial authorities say France has more than 4 billion dollars' worth of gold and U. S. dollars, which is enough to create a "sound" currency — except for this fact: Only 547 millions of this international exchange, one-eighth, is in the hands of the French government; practically all of it, seven-eighths, is in the hands of individual Frenchmen.

Your first reaction is this: Over here Americans can't hold gold; the government has it all. But the French government lets its people hold onto it, cries "inflation" and still expects hard-working American taxpayers to send additional dollars to bail out a government and people who don't seem resolved to help themselves.

That's your first reaction. But a really sharp observer must come to a more truthful and honest conclusion. It is this:

Inflation follows the man who holds the gold. Over in France the people hold the gold, and it's the people who are spending it and forever forcing prices upward, while the goldless government bitterly protests. But here in the United States it's our gold-holding government which is the great inflator, increasing money circulation and boosting prices — while the goldless common people holler futilely.

The final irony is that our government has taken gold away from Americans only to give it to a French government which wouldn't take away the gold its own people have.

Gold and property are wealth, but the paper that politicians call money is never any better than the men who print it — a truth on which Frenchmen are better posted than Americans.

Control Red Prisoners, 8th Army Told

Koje Island, Korea, May 23 (UP) — Gen. Mark W. Clark ordered the 8th Army to get "uncontested control" over defiant Communist prisoners of war and his commander here warned the Reds today he is ready and able to carry out his orders.

Clark, Supreme United Nations commander in the Far East, said that "The prisoners' flagrant disregard of our instructions will not be tolerated any longer. A headquarters spokesman in Tokyo said the order was passed down through 8th Army channels to Kojé and Pusan, scenes of prison rioting.

The spokesman said Clark described the situation on Kojé where prisoners have been running the compounds to suit themselves, as "intolerable."

Citizens Bank Launches Calf Club for Boys

Thirty-five deserving Hempstead county farm boys are in business for themselves as cattle raisers because of a farm youth program which the Citizens National bank of Hope undertook last fall and which is a going enterprise today.

There are 35 boys and each one has a beef calf — all his own, without any initial cost. The boys live in widely-separated areas of the county — on the farms around Hope, Palmos, Spring Hill, and Blevins.

This is the story:
The Citizens National bank decided last fall to launch a double-barreled program which would not only promote the cattle industry in general but would give worthy farm youngsters an individual project all their own — putting them in business for themselves.

Robert LaGrone, bank president, asked the four vocational agricultural instructors stationed throughout the county to recommend deserving boys for a bank-sponsored calf club. The instructors are:

R. E. Jackson of Hope.
W. H. Allison of Palmos.
L. J. Brown of Blevins.
J. S. Lucas of Spring Hill.

The vocational instructors came up with 35 boys' names. For these boys the Citizens National bank did the following:

1. Bought and turned over to each boy a beef calf.
2. Insured the calf.
3. Took the boy's note for the calf — without any endorsement or other guarantee.
4. Gave the boy the privilege of selling his calf when ready, or any time the boy desired to — all the proceeds over the cost note going to the boy.

Mr. LaGrone said the bank had the calf program in the planning stage last year, but began to get it into operation the first of 1952. Now it's in full swing, and bank officials and others who visited the boys and their animals in their home communities on a pictorial tour last week got an enthusiastic reception.

Elsewhere in today's edition are the pictures of 29 of the 35 young farm business men participating in the program.

Shortage of Aviation Gas Is Critical

Denver, May 23 (AP) — Even though a strike of oil industry pipeline and refinery workers neared an end today, shortage of aviation gasoline became more serious.

Commercial airlines announced drastic reductions in flights. They asked Secretary of the Interior Chapman to decontrol aviation fuel in view of the spreading contract settlements.

An airline official confirmed the request yesterday to Chapman, head of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD). There was no immediate government reply.

The official said he believed the Air Force which also has trimmed training flights and some other operations both at home and abroad, is opposed to decontrol because of its own need for the fuel.

Earlier, Chapman said restrictions on aviation fuel would have to continue to some time, at least until June 3.

Airlines announcing further curtailment of operations include Pan American World Airways and American Airlines.

American canceled 42 flights yesterday. On Saturday it plans to cancel from 104 to 146 other flights.

C. R. Smith, American president, said that unless the PAD order is modified, other flights might be canceled Sunday, reducing the Continued on Page Eight

Red Industrial Points Smashed by U. S. Planes

Seoul, Korea, May 23 (AP) — United Nations warplanes smashed a huge industrial complex southwest of Pyongyang today in the culmination of what the Air Force called the greatest saturation bombing attack of the Korean War.

The attack near the North Korean capital began yesterday morning and ended at 4 p. m. today. Nearly 800 fighter-bomber sorties were flown against the fat target.

Burned and blasted in the assault were a Communist hand grenade arsenal, the surface works of a coal mine, storehouses and nearly a half mile of machine shops and wire houses. They were along the north bank of the Taedong River between Pyongyang and its port city, Chinnampo.

Rain squalls sweeping down from Manchuria blotted out the target area late this afternoon.

Nearly 500 sorties were flown yesterday and 300 today.

The Fifth Air Force said it threw every type of plane it had into the strike.

The burden of the attack was carried by F-84 Thunderjets of the 49th and 138th fighter-bomber wings. They splashed the area with bombs, rockets, napalm (jelled gasoline) and machinegun fire.

Supporting the thunderjets were the Eighth Wing's F-80 Shooting Stars, the 18th Wing's Mustangs; Corsairs and sky raiders of the 12th Marine Air Group and Australian Meteor jets.

During the night B-26s continued bombing the area.

The attacking planes were screened by F-86 Sabre jets.

Tackett, Other Candidates Assail McMath

By The Associated Press

Four Arkansas' press gubernatorial hopefuls took to the platform yesterday (Thursday) and two of them centered their fire on a single opponent — Gov. Sid McMath.

McMath, completing his second 2-year term in the executive mansion, is defying an Arkansas political tradition by seeking re-election to a third administration. Only one other man in modern times has successfully done that—the late Jeff Davis.

Western Union Strike Ended After 51 Days

30,000 Workers to Receive Wage Increase

Washington, May 23 (AP) — Union and company officials agreed today on terms for ending the Western Union strike. The agreement provides for a wage increase for the union, but only if the company gets government permission to boost telephone tolls.

The 30,000 Western Union employees, members of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union, CUTU, have been on strike for 51 days. Under the terms, the earliest date for resumption of full-scale telephone service would be Monday.

The agreement was reached after an all-night session eliminating a week of intensive negotiations. It included two big ifs:

1. Western Union must get federal authority to increase telephone rates.
2. The pact must be ratified by the membership of the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union. A union spokesman said such ratification is in doubt.

Announcement of the agreement was made by Cyrus China, head of the Federal Mediation Service, and officials of the union and company.

The company said the workers would be back on the job Monday. W. L. Allen, international president of the CUTU, said, however, that such a return would be contingent on approval of the terms by the union membership.

The basic terms of the contract involve these things:

- A shift from the 48-hour work week to the 40-hour week.

Rayburn Asserts Air Superiority Lost to Russia

Washington, May 23 (AP) — Speaker Rayburn told the House today "we have lost air superiority" to Russia and "the margin of our atomic superiority" is "daily disappearing."

He said that clogged American war production lines resulted from "criminal negligence" which should be investigated.

Rayburn left the speaker's chair to deliver one of his rare speeches in support of a $880,000,000 foreign aid program for next year, which the House is considering.

The Texas Democrat addressed the House after Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway described the Far Eastern conditions before a joint Senate-House meeting. Consideration of the foreign aid bill was suspended during the general's appearance, then resumed.

Rayburn attacked opposition demands for foreign aid cuts up to one billion dollars and opposed a partisan approach to the bill. This "is not election year in Soviet Russia," he said in his prepared speech.

"Every time we reduce the defense program of our Allies, by so much we reduce our security," Rayburn said.

"If the price of freedom is eating hockeac and molasses, I'm for that."

At another point he said the price of freedom has always been high, "but the price of defeat is death and slavery."

The speaker, mentioned as a possible Democratic presidential candidate, said:

"I'd rather see my party go Continued on Page Three Presbyterians and Sickness inkets U. S.

May 22 (AP)—A "sad, sickness" blankets much of the life, the moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. said today.

Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson, Chicago, told the opening of the 144th annual General Assembly that the spiritual sickness of the U. S. is a "sad, sickness" blankets much of the life, the moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. said today.

education and entertainment and other fields.

"A moral decay creeps its slow but sure way through America from the little white house on the village street to the White House in another town," he said in a prepared address.

But despite the signs of the "devil's side," he told Presbyterians, "the church is on the march and is winning through."

"Everywhere young men and women are coming forward to help the church," he said.

He said the gospel has been "carried to every land," that the old conflict between "so-called science and faith has been resolved, that "Theology is no longer in disrepute."

"The word of God has found us again," he said.

Eight hundred and eighty commissioners, representing the churches' 250 presbyteries, and hundreds of other church officials are here for the General Assembly, the church's supreme governing body.

Anderson, enumerating recent strides made by Christian churches, said a stalemate caused by differences over "personal commitment to Christ and effective social living" in the community has ended.

"Evangelism which begins with the surrendered heart and goes on to the redeemed community is in-the saddle," he said.

But, he added, all is not "on the side of the angels."

"Every other man in America is outside Christ's church," he said.

"Liquor, sexual immorality, and suicide have their devotees."

"Money that belongs to God is misappropriated by multitudes of Christians who are shocked by these practices in Washington but say nothing wrong whatsoever in taking God's title for personal or family use."

Anderson told fellow Presbyterians that their church, which went through a dark period of losing 6,000 members in the 1930s, gained a net total of 273,445 in the 1940s.

Industries Hopeful of Return Trend

By SAM DAWSON
New York, May 21 (AP)—Men are going back to work — or working longer weeks — in some consumer goods factories here and there.

It doesn't offset the cutbacks recently in other industries. But it leads some industrialists to hope — or at least wonder — if the long awaited turning point may not be near for them, too.

We think the log jam has broken," says a tire maker, J. P. Seiberling, in announcing that his company has gone back to full scale 6-days-a-week production. Seiberling had cut to five days for a time because dealers were slow in ordering tires.

A flurry in textile buying in recent days has revived hope in the long depressed textile industry. The ordering is too light so far to indicate any real pattern. The textile slump is world wide. But the International Cotton Council thinks the world cotton industry will pull out of it in the coming season.

Shoe factories are swinging back to full-week schedules after their long depression. Orders picked up at the recent shoe show here. Prices are down and customers are returning to the stores. Most shoe manufacturers are optimistic about good fall business and are recalling employees to full-time work.

John J. Minnoch, executive director of the National Hide Association, says hide prices are at their lowest in years and shoe prices for fall probably will drop 25 cents to $1 a pair.

Optimistic forecasts are also made today by spokesmen in other industries.

J. S. Sherer, Jr., president of Reo Motors, tells stockholders that the company's sale of trucks should reach a new high this year.

One movie company is optimistic. Another slummy, Spyros P. Skouras, president of Twentieth Century-Fox, tells stockholders earnings should be higher in the first half of this year. He says theater admissions up this quarter. L. H. Goldstein, president of United Paramount Theaters, says attendance last year is declining at more than the normal seasonal rate.

The airlines have been losing money back to the factories.

Some cold water is thrown in this display of optimism, however, by the Commerce Department, which reports today output of consumer goods continued to decline in April. It notes lay-offs of workers in April and May in plants producing refrigerators, farm and home freezers, electric ranges and washing machines. And it cites "sharp contractions" in some of civilian goods lines, offset by government spending by the government.

On both the bright and gloomy side of this picture the consumer is called the hero. When he is buying again at a faster clip, workers will follow the shop.

The picture has been losing money back to the factories.

tough so far this year. But William J. Hogan, vice president of American Airlines, tells stockholders that prospects for the rest of the year are better. He thinks business should pick up as soon as oil strike ends and gasoline is no longer rationed. The real bug-a-boo, he says, is high operating costs.

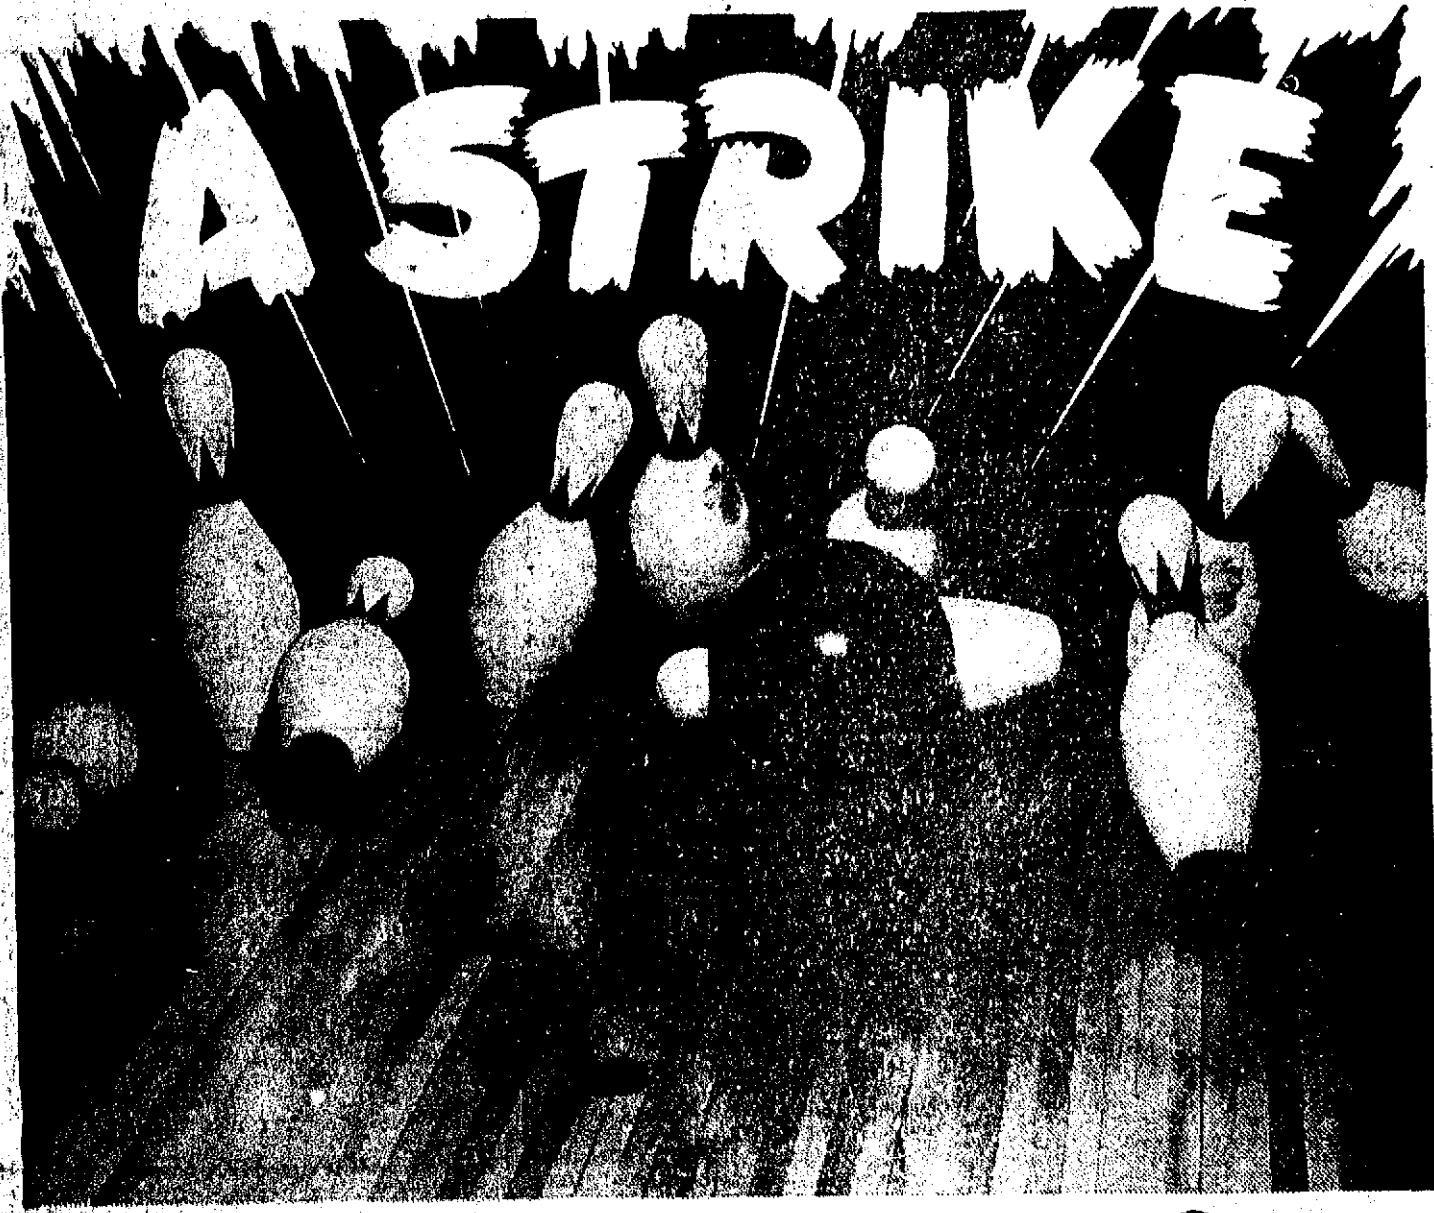

Most utility companies continue to do more business than a year ago. Their gross income for present quarter is running about 6.5 per cent above a year ago, the Federal Power Commission reports.

Every good bowler knows the thrill of a 'ten strike.' To see all the pins go down is the goal of every player. That is success. That is the perfect game. He will play again, who has seen and enjoyed such a good hour.

How much more important is the game of life! Here is a fine girl or boy at school. He has done his studying to good advantage. The letter A ornaments his paper. An eager athlete has learned to play in team work. He has carried the ball across the line. That is a strike. He is a thrill that is intensified by the plaudits of his fellows. A woman entertains in her new home. Her table is immaculate and her friends made to feel at home. So all rejoice in the thrill of A Strike together.

All of life may be a thrilling game, if we play it well. High satisfaction comes, however, to those who approach the end of the years of living. To lay down the load, as one's friends give hearty cheers, because of work well done; this is the real Strike. To close one's eyes at the end of a day, with a consciousness of having done one's best... that is always a Strike. But to come to the very end of all days, with the praises of men and God in one's ears; that is the "Ten Strike" indeed, which earns the heavenly "Well Done."

down in defeat and never arise if it should attempt to deceive the American people by holding out to them false promises of a reduction of their burdens based upon the false premises that this government has done, and is doing, all that it can do to assure the security of the nation.

Rayburn referred to testimony of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, that certain types of ammunition had been rationed because of production shortages. This subsequently, has been denied, most recently by Gen. Ridgway.

The speaker said it is "outrageous" that "we can't supply our soldiers with adequate ammunition."

"It is one thing for a man to fight with a fighting chance for his life. But it is quite another for him to have his throat cut without a chance because of a clogged production line."

"I don't know who is responsible for this bit of criminal negligence. But we ought to find out quickly."

week to one of 40 hours, with no change in pay, for those hired before Nov. 1, 1941.

2. A flat 10-cent-an-hour increase for workers hired after that date. Those hired after the 1941 date were employed on the basis of a 46-hour week, receiving 40 hours pay.

3. Abandonment of the union shop among W. U. employees but establishment of what a mediation spokesman called an "agency shop."

4. Employees working 35 hours a week would get a flat $22-a-month increase.

5. Messengers would receive an increase of five cents an hour.

"W. U. workers would not have to join the union as heretofore," was explained, but those who decline to become union members must pay dues.

Company spokesmen would not say how much rate increase would be asked of the Federal Communications Commission, but Allen said he understood the company would ask for a 10 per cent boost.

Allen said the union "is in accord with the application and we offered our co-operation and support to the company in its application for such a rate increase."

"The new contract would not become effective until after the FCC grants the company a rate increase."

"The union had asked an 18-cent-an-hour pay increase, a shift from the 48 to 40 hour work week and maintenance of the union shop."

Allen said the contract increases average earnings of the union members to $1.54 for all employees except messengers and 83 cents an hour for messengers.

Company officials said that under the new contract the workers would average $1.73 an hour.

Allen said the union will maintain picket lines around W. U. offices until the pact is ratified by the membership.

"There's a possibility it may be rejected," he told a reporter. "I have a feeling it will be ratified but I wouldn't presume to say it was certain."

Allen said the voting by the membership should be completed by late Sunday and that if the terms are approved, the CTU workers would be back on the job by mid-night Sunday.

The contract is for a 2-year period through May 31 1954 and provides for wage reopening at the end of the first contract year.

Allen said the pact "gives us a major portion of our most important demands."

A company statement said "the strike has served no useful purpose."

yesterday morning," he related. "Then we came down on the buildings. It was really a fat target compared to some of the rail stations we've been getting lately. They had no warning and they must have been caught by surprise."

After the Reds' ground guns were silenced, fighter-bombers dropped 500 and 1,000 pound bombs, rocketed the area and splashed it with napalm.

"Almost every plane over the target emptied its machineguns in the blazing wreckage," Clark said.

On the ground the Reds threw a saturation artillery barrage at a small United Nations sector on the Western Front Thursday night.

In less than an hour, the Reds poured about 2,400 artillery and mortar shells across a 3 1/2 mile front northwest of Yonchon.

Gilbert and Sullivan Opera at Shreveport

On June 6 and 7 the Shreveport Opera Workshop will present for the first time a summer outdoor musical, free of charge, to the public. The selection will be the familiar Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Patience," and the scene will be the open air theater on the Centenary college campus in Shreveport.

Comprising the cast will be singers well known in this locale, Alverne Hubley, who will portray the little role of "Patience," has sung leading roles in other Opera Workshop productions, as have Theolyn Dienst, Jenny Townsend and Phil Hisey. Also appearing in lead roles are John Patterson, Olive Ann Sumlin, and Marion Van Sickle. These three have recently sung leading roles with the Opera association in "Rigoletto" and "Fledermaus," which were given in the Municipal Auditorium with stars from the Metropolitan Opera.

The cast will be completed by other talented members of the Opera Workshop: Don Clancy, Robert Lightsey, and Frank Agee. The chorus will be that of the Shreveport Opera association, and will include some selected singers from a number of Shreveport's leading church choirs.

The performance will be under the musical direction of John E. Cox, assistant director of the association, in co-operation with Mrs. Helen Ruffin Marshall, local musical director. Assisting Mr. Cox will be Mrs. Patrice Liddell. Staging and sets by Jacques Stuhau and Willy Malarcher.

Tackett, ficially opening his campaign in a speech at Arkadelphia, accused McMath of "going over the state promising to pave this, that and every other road just as he has been doing since he entered the race for governor in 1948."

Tackett — first of five aspirants for the Democratic nomination to hit the political stump — promised to take Highway Commission appointments away from the governor if elected.

"Just another administration or two handling the Highway Department as it has been handled during the last few years would be disastrous to our state," the Nashville candidate said.

Before his formal speech at Arkadelphia last night Tackett joined Atty. Gen. Ike Murry, Judge Francis Cherry of Jonesboro and Republican Jeff Speck of Frenchman's Bayou in speeches at Dermott.

Speck is unopposed for the Republican nomination. The others are bidding for Democratic votes in the July 29 primary. Jack Holt, the fifth candidate, makes his first campaign speech Saturday night at Harrison.

Murry hinted at opposition to his ambition by supporters of the present administration.

He closed ranks against him, he charged, several months ago when he ruled state officials could not do business with the state.

Cherry primarily stressed his program of "honesty, integrity and sound business methods" but devoted some attention to the highway situation. He promised a "sound highway program."

Speck wasted little time on state affairs. He blasted the entire Democratic party, claiming a national Democratic victory in November would "lead the nation to dictatorship" and predicted a sweep for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Tackett left little doubt that he considers McMath his chief foe. He mentioned the governor by name several times, often referring to him as "Sidney."

The Nashville congressman called for a reduction in size of the Highway Commission from 12 to an unspecified number of members.

"But merely to reduce the number of commissioners is no solution if they are to be appointed by the governor," he added.

Tackett suggested that commissioners be appointed to staggered terms by "the state's constitutional officers." All would have to meet qualifications fixed by the legislature.

Tackett said he supports the Rural Electrical Program—"Sidney doesn't know public power from private power—and promised not to seek a third term.

DOROTHY DIX

Marriage vs. Army

Dear Miss Dix: I have a problem that is bothering many young men and women today, that is, whether to marry a boy before he goes into service, or wait until he is discharged.

I am 21 years old, my fiancé is 23. We have known each other for five years, therefore are well acquainted with each other's likes and dislikes, family backgrounds and personalities.

We both feel we would like to get married in June before he is drafted, but a number of people have advised us to wait, giving various reasons for their opinions.

We would like to know how you feel about it. Please tell us.

C. I. B.

Answer: This can be such a complicated question, depending upon individual cases, that only a bare, general outline of its solution can be given here.

Best To Wait

In general, I would advise waiting. If an engagement stretched throughout the boy's entire period of service seems too long, you can always have the wedding on a furlough. However, to marry before he goes into service is not a wise move.

The young man will have a tremendous adjustment to make from home life to army life; the complication of marriage just adds to his emotional tension. Marriage itself is such an important step that it should be taken as the paramount experience of your life. Under the circumstances outlined, this is impossible. When a boy enters the Army (or any other branch of service), that is, per se, such a consuming experience that the marriage is, of necessity, relegated to the background. Army routine has no place for family life, and any bride is bound to feel cheated when her big moment becomes just an incident in a GI's schedule.

If she marries before her groom is drafted, there is the added uncertainty of not knowing where he'll be stationed — a question that is usually settled after a year. To become a service wife you must be very confident of your own emotions as well as those of your fiancé. Are you socially well adjusted, so that you can travel with him and make friends wherever you happen to be? Are you prepared to take the loneliness of separation should he be sent where you cannot accompany him? Is your financial situation sufficiently established so that you can take care of yourself and a baby, if you should be blessed with one?

Add these serious considerations to the problems that occur with any marriage, and you see what a formidable undertaking you face. By giving the boy a chance to become accustomed to his new life first, you will marry under much more auspicious circumstances.

Since you are so young, a wait of one or two years will not hurt.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you accept only feminine inquiries? Since males, too, have their troubles, I would like your viewpoint on a problem if it is consistent with your policy.

Answer: While it is true that feminine inquiries do occupy most of this column, masculine problems enter every now and then. Do send your troubles along, and be assured they will be duly answered.

Dear Miss Dix: Is it good etiquette for a young high-school boy to have his arm around his girl while walking down the street?

Answer: My dear, it is deplorable etiquette! However, it is romance, and whenever does the protocol of social procedure decree that love must hide in the background? I guess as long as we have young people, bless them, we'll have young sweethearts walking down the street with their arms around each other. And only the most hardened misanthrope will criticize.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm 17 and have been going with a boy for the past few months. Last night he walked home from town and asked if I would accept an engagement ring. Do you think I should? After all, I've only known him a few months.

Answer: You should return the ring on the grounds of your extreme youth, as well as for a short acquaintance.

Rich Is Only Bright Spot for Memphis

By The Associated Press
"Luke Appling's battered Memphis Chickens took a look at the Southern Association standings today and concluded they would be poorer still if it were not for Pitcher Woodrow Rich, righthander, who copped his fifth victory of the season last night in the Chickens' 9-7 conquest of Birmingham. This adds up to exactly half of the cellar-ridden team's victory total.

Mobile increased its league lead to a game and a half by trouncing Nashville 16-2; New Orleans bunched Chattanooga, 8-3, and Atlanta clipped the Little Rock Travelers, 10-6.

Besides Rich, the Memphis hero was newcomer Floyd Fogg. The latter, who gets sold around the league regularly despite the fact that he's one of the Southern's better righthanded power guys, alarmed a homer and batted in five runs. The Chickens bought Fogg a week ago from New Orleans, where he had played a year after being sold by Little Rock.

Atlanta's victory over Dutch McCall of Little Rock marked the first time this year the Crackers have hung a loss on a starting left-hander. Two Crackers sent down recently from Milwaukee, Earl Wooten and Chuck Tanner, led Atlanta's 16-hit assault and drove in three runs apiece.

Loan Companies Involved in Suits

Little Rock, May 23 (AP) — Another suit was filed in Pulaski Chancery Court here yesterday, charging a second Greater Little Rock loan firm with usury.

Both litigations are an outgrowth of the Arkansas Supreme Court's decision last Monday that the state's 1931 small loans act permits interest rates above the constitutional limit of 10 per cent.

The new suit was filed against the Family Finance Corporation by Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wisdom, who seek to cancel further indebtedness to the firm. They contend that the company charges excessive interest.

Wisdom said he gave Family Finance a chattel mortgage last February for a $540 loan, to be repaid at $30 a month for 18 months. He said deductions included: $200 to pay off a previous loan; $27 for discount interest; $40.30 for service charges, and $9 for life insurance premium.

He said he received only $300.62 of the $540 loan.

The first suit was filed against the Public Service Loan Corporation of North Little Rock.

Planes Take Lives of 326 in 1952

Washington, May 23 (AP) The Civil Aeronautics Board reports 326 persons were killed and 51 seriously hurt in 1952 airplane accidents involving U. S. airlines last year.

By comparison, 213 were killed and 19 seriously hurt in 1951 accidents in 1950.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, May 23 (AP) — The Pacific Coast League's determination to keep its best athletes and gradually to build itself into a major league stature is likely to be put to a severe strain before the current campaign ends if Hal Gregg, pitcher, sustains his present fiery pitching pace with Oakland.

At last report the big righthander, speedballer, had won eight straight for Manager Mel Ott's team, one of them a seven-inning no-hitter. Representatives of three big league clubs are reported following him already and taking turns butting up, Brick Laws, the Oakland president.

Gregg, who was one of the National League's top hurlers back in 1945 when he won 18 and lost 13 for Brooklyn, is making a phenomenal comeback after several seasons in the outer darkness. He underwent a delicate back operation which appears to have effected a complete cure of the ills which had threatened to end his baseball career. He will not be 31 until July, so he might easily have five or six fine years left in his system.

Branch Rickey unloaded Gregg on Pittsburgh in 1947 in a multiple player deal by which Brooklyn acquired such talent as third-baseman Billy Cox and Pitcher Frenchy Roe and the Pirates wound up with their memories. Gregg could do nothing for the Bucs, and Manager Billy Meyer finally had to give up on him completely two springs ago.

The big, personable fellow dropped from sight until the past spring. Then, one night, we saw him and the New York Giants on their collective heads in an exhibition game in Oakland. He looked great, loose and fast and sharp of control.

By the merest coincidence, immediately after Hal's impressive display, President Horace Stoneham of the Giants made a surprise announcement that he was sending his prize young first-base prospect, Teddie Gilbert, out to play for his old pal, Laws. Just a friendly gesture, you understand, but with overtones.

The Coast League does not, as we vaguely understand it, approve of working agreements since it became a sort of upper-case minor league. But if Laws just should, by chance, decide that he no longer wants Gregg on his club, we can't help feeling that the estimable

Brick would think first of his lucky, Horace.

Oklahoman Sent for Mental Test

Little Rock, May 23 (AP) — An Arkansas wanted in Oklahoma to face first degree murder charges will be committed instead to the Arkansas State Hospital for Nervous Diseases here.

Chancellor Richard Mobley yesterday signed an order in Russellville, Ark., committing Charles J. Pitts, who lives near Dover, Ark., to the hospital.

Pitts is wanted in connection with the death of Allie Blair, who was shot to death on a Muskogee, Okla., street in December, 1950.

The commitment order was requested by Pitts' lawyer, Reece Caudle, on the ground that Pitts was dangerously ill and should not be returned to Muskogee.

On May 9, Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, then acting as governor, granted extradition for Pitts to Oklahoma. Yesterday was the date set for removal.

Dawsons Are High Scholastically

Marsted Tree, May 23 (AP) — When a Dawson is running for scholastic honors in Marsted Tree, everyone else is seeking second place.

Eighteen-year-old Clythia Ann Dawson was named valedictorian of the high school graduating class here this week. She was the last of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dawson to win that honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson disclaim any credit for their children's achievements. "We only asked that they give their best in any undertaking," the parents said.

The round robin started in 1927 with the former Helen Dawson, now Mrs. Donald H. Smith of Fairview, Okla., and continued with Clarence Alston Dawson, Franklin, Ill., in 1929; Miss Marion Dawson, Marsted Tree, Ark., in 1933; Mrs. Hadley Hayes, Ellythville, Ark., in 1934; L. Howard Dawson, Grotton, Conn., in 1939, and Mrs. Donald C. Aldrich, Compton, Calif., in 1942.

Tomies Seek Revenge in Game Tonight

Hope and Texarkana's Red River Tomies will square off again here tonight at 8 o'clock. The final practice contest before regular league play starts here Monday night.

In the last meeting Hope's Legionnaires shut out the visitors by a 3-0 tally behind Edsl Nix's 3-hit hurling. Local batters tagged Gilson Ross, a former Legionnaire, for 8 hits and three runs.

A good game is in prospect for tonight with the Tomies seeking revenge.

Taft Needs Money for Campaign

New York, May 23, (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft needs "money badly" in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, his national treasurer, said yesterday.

Ben E. Tate of Cincinnati made the statement in opening a Greater New York Division of the "Citizens for Taft" group.

On the basis of their expenditures so far, Tate added, the backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, also a Republican candidate, appear to "have more funds."

Remington Trial Set for June 3

New York, May 23 (AP) — William W. Remington's second trial on perjury charges growing out of alleged membership in the Communist party has been set for June 3.

The 34-year-old former government economist was found guilty, at the first trial, of lying when he swore he never had been a Communist.

The conviction subsequently was set aside and a new trial was ordered. Meanwhile, the government reintroduced him for alleged perjury in his first trial testimony.

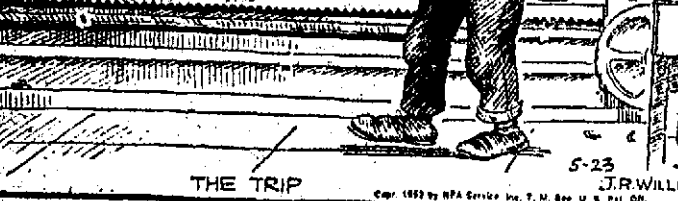

The charge against Remington at his first trial was that he had lied to a federal grand jury while being questioned about alleged Communist affiliations.

Remington, at liberty under $7,000 bail, has said he would seek motions dismissing the perjury indictments when he goes into court next month.
